THE NEW YORK HERALD

EDISON NOT AIMING AT COLLEGE GRADS

Famous List of Questions Not for Their Especial Benefit, He Says.

PREFERRED TO OTHERS

Says Value of Questionnaire Was Destroyed by Publicity.

IS PREPARING A NEW ONE

Will Copyright It and Threatens Terrors of Law to Those Printing It.

Although Thomas A. Edison was ill at his home in New Jersey last night with a cold which he caught while on a fishing trip last week, he managed to work most of the night on a great pile of questionnaires which prospective employees of the Edison plant have attempted to answer during the last few days, and in assembling a mass of material out of which he intends to prepare another list of questions which he will submit to applicants for jobs.

"The value of the list I had," said Mr. Edison, "has been destroyed, so far as I am concerned, because of the publicity it has received, and because of the fact that THE NEW YORK HERALD printed all of the answers. But no one will print this new list that I'm preparing, because I am going to copyright it, and any paper that prints it as an Edison questionnaire will have to go to law about it."

Mr. Edison told a NEW YORK HERALD reporter that the general public misunderstands him entirely so far as concerns his attitude toward college men. He declared that he is not shooting at college men particularly with his lists of questions; on the contrary, he wants college men, and prefers a man with a college education to any other sort.

Some "Terribly Dumb."

"Most of the men who have answered my questions are college men," he said, "and they make the best type of employees. But some of them are so terribly dumb. Just look at this," he went on, picking up one of the lists which lay before him. "Here is a questionnaire sent back by a man with a high technical education and as fine a personal record as I have ever seen. But he is amazingly ignorant of the ordinary things; out of thirty questions he has answered only about three. To me that proves that he is not observant, that he doesn't know what is going on in the world about him and that he doesn't read the newspapers correctly. Any man who reads the papers and reads the really informative news which all of them contain will be able to make an A B C grade every time."

Mr. Edison said that the "thing that gets my goat" is the terrible gap that his questionnaires have shown to lie between the A B C men and the X Y Z men, between the ones who can answer a large percentage of the questions and those who fail utterly. "Where are the D E F G men?" he asked, "and the R S T men? All of the boys who come here for jobs are either very good or they are very bad; there do not seem to be any middle men; none who are not terribly full of knowledge now, but full enough that there might be hope for them later on. I would like to find some of these men, but now I seem to get hold of only the A B C men and the X Y Z men."

The inventor said that he was arranging to have the old questionnaires which he has been using for some time tabulated and prepared for publication, and that the public would be amazed to read the answers and learn the ignorance of the average college graduate. But with all of the ignorance displayed Mr. Edison said that he had had very fine results from the questionnaires.

"Many of the boys who came in with A B C ratings," he said, "have been placed in executive positions of great responsibility and they are making good. In fact, every boy who was able to answer these questions made good from the beginning."

"I originated the idea of the questionnaire because I have never been able to tell by looking at a man how much ability he possessed. I decided to question every applicant for a job and find out how much he knew and if he was a live wire. Since I put this system into effect I have come very close to getting what I want in employees, and I do not expect to have so many losses as I used to have when the hiring was hit or miss. Every year in the United States billions of dollars are lost because incompetents are hired and put into positions of responsibility."

Mr. Edison said that he had received a great many anonymous letters since the newspapers began giving publicity to his system of hiring men. Many of them, he said, were "villainous," but he has not turned any over to the police, because none of them has been signed and there has been nothing but the postmark to indicate where they came from.

EDUCATION COMMISSIONER FAILS IN THE EDISON TEST

Thinks 'Domestic' Sardines Are From Italy, Can't Bound West Virginia and Is Shy on Knowledge of Copra and Window Glass Manufacture.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Washington, D. C., May 13.

Where do our domestic sardines come from?

According to the Edison mental test, if you cannot answer this question promptly you're ignorant—which goes to prove that you may be a highbrow by the usual standards, and ignorant under the Edison rule.

Dr. Philander P. Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education, who is entitled to add most of the letters of the alphabet to his name to indicate his college and university degrees, failed today, not only on the sardine question, but in several others, notwithstanding his boast that he was "there" on the Edison tests.

"I suppose domestic sardines from-Italy," he said, triumphantly, but hesitatingly. Then he admitted he didn't know.

And what is the longest river in the world? The Nile or the Amazon—or is it the Mississippi? I give up," he continued.

He did not know how to bound West Virginia, was shy on any knowledge about copra or window glass manufacture and finally took refuge in some other questions that he could not answer, by saying:

"Still, it's a good test in quick thinking, breadth of knowledge and memory."

ARRESTS UNCOVER LARGE MAIL THEFTS

Three Men Are Accused of Taking Cash Totalling $175,000 From Two Sub-Stations.

With the arraignment yesterday of two post office clerks charged with embezzling $75,000 received for postal saving certificates and of a third prisoner accused of robbing a sub-station and stealing money orders, the post office authorities said that a series of thefts in which the Government lost more than $175,000 had been solved. All three men were held in heavy bail for the action of the Federal Grand Jury.

James E. Dunlay, 31 years old, of 263 West 112th street, and Ralph Rosenberg, 28, of 826 Whitlock avenue, The Bronx, were arrested by James A. Peeney, post office inspector, at Station I, New York Post Office, 232 West 116th street. Dunlay has been in the Government service for thirteen years and Rosenberg for two. Louis D. Schwartz, Assistant United States Attorney, said both men had made statements admitting that they stole the money to bet on the horses.

Dunlay and Rosenberg worked together in the postal savings cage at the branch, according to Mr. Schwartz, and gave out the postal savings certificates issued by the Post Office Department in return for money placed on deposit. Their scheme, Mr. Schwartz said, was to pocket the money and give a depositor a certificate from a serial form book that would not come into use for many months. By so doing the certificate would be discovered missing until that book had been reached.

The clerks were arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock on an embezzling charge and were held in $25,000 bail each for the action of the Grand Jury. About the same time Irving Resnick, alias "Skinny," was called before the Commissioner on a charge of robbing Sub-Station 172, at Madison avenue and 101st street, and stealing post office money orders. He was arrested Thursday night at Lenox avenue and 116th street.

Mr. Schwartz told Commissioner Hitchcock that during March robbers entered three sub-stations, stealing 1,000 money order blanks on which $100,000 could be realized. Commissioner Hitchcock fixed bail at $50,000, but this did not satisfy Mr. Schwartz. The latter hurried across the hall to the chamber of Federal Judge Kaufman and obtained an order committing Resnick to the Ludlow Street Jail for an indefinite period.

Two members of the alleged band are now serving terms in Atlanta Penitentiary. Mr. Schwartz said, but they will be brought back to this city to be tried on indictments found against them since they were sentenced. Other alleged members of the band are under arrest in Paterson, Bridgeport, Conn., and Cleveland, Ohio, and four others are yet to be arrested.

Inspector G. A. Smith of the Post Office, who arrested Resnick, said thirty-eight of the 1,000 stolen orders have been recovered. Aside from Sub-Station 172 the others robbed were No. 87, at Columbus avenue and 197th street, and No. 181, in Tremont avenue, The Bronx. The stolen orders are numbered from 48,881 to 49,000, inclusive; 20,437 to 20,600, inclusive; and 12,230 to 12,400, inclusive. Mr. Peeney suggests that all postal orders be examined closely before being cashed.

NEW LINER'S GREEN GOD OFFSETS FRIDAY HOODOO

Orbita Here on First Trip as Royal Mail Ship.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet Company's new liner Orbita defied off shore and on shore superstition yesterday by arriving on Friday the thirteenth, after a first passage from Southampton and Cherbourg, her skipper, Capt. J. E. Pardee-Matthews, attributing her immunity from inauspicious things partly to the little green porcelain Japanese god adorning his rolltop desk in his cabin. The skipper was stupored when asked for the name of the little green god. The Orbita was an auxiliary cruiser in the war, entering it just after she had been completed. She was reconsecrated and returned to commercial service practically a new ship, fitted as the rest of the liners. She will inaugurate the company's overseas passenger carrying by sailing May 21 for Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg.

TOO MANY RELATIVES SPOIL HAPPY HOME

Overran His House, Says F. C. Neary, Replying to Separation Suit.

Frank C. Neary, replying yesterday to his wife's suit for separation and application for $25 a week alimony and $150 counsel fees, declared before Justice Callaghan that his home had been happy up to the time his wife invited her relatives to live with them. The coming of the hordes of relatives, he said, transformed his formerly peaceful home into "a sort of lodging house."

"If the court will only get my wife's relatives out of the house and allow me to live with my wife and babies alone I will ever be thankful," said Neary in his answer.

The first grievance recited by Neary has to do with his mother-in-law. He said she once stuck a revolver against his stomach and threatened to shoot him. His brother-in-law he described as a "powerful and belligerent man," who had threatened him on various occasions. The threats, he said, led him to believe that his wife was in danger.

"We were happy and contented," said Neary's answer, "until the following people were introduced into my household and were caused to reside there and therein overrun the said home with their in-laws and against my happiness and peace of mind, to wit:

"My mother-in-law, Johanna Saul; my brother-in-law, Harry Saul; my sister-in-law, Wilhelmina Hulzmaehen, and her two young children, and at intervals her husband, Frank Hulzmaehen."

When he complained to his wife, he said, she told him she cared more for her relatives than she did for him. Neary is a clerk employed by the Importing News Bureau and lives at 568 Prospect place, Brooklyn. His wife, Mrs. Josephine E. Neary, lives at 35 Bodell street, Hempstead, L. I. She charged him with abandoning her last January 23.

ASSERTS SIVER HAD STILL ANOTHER WIFE

Mrs. Eggers Says They Lived in Her Perth Amboy Home Two Weeks.

Mrs. Elizabeth Eggers, who conducts a rooming house in 360 State street, Perth Amboy, N. J., told Mrs. Shabel K. Siver of New Brunswick yesterday that her husband, who recently disappeared with Miss Adele Goula of Perth Amboy and $6,000 in Liberty bonds belonging to the First Reformed Church of New Brunswick, of which he was treasurer, had lived at her home for two weeks in 1920 with a woman whom he introduced as his wife. This woman, Mrs. Eggers said, was not the Goula girl.

Mrs. Eggers said that Siver was employed in a wallpaper store in Perth Amboy and that he told her his wife and child would come shortly to live with him. Later the woman and a crippled 2-year-old boy arrived, and the trio remained there two or three weeks. Mrs. Eggers declared that later Siver brought the Goula girl to her house and tried to obtain a room for her, but that she would not let them have it, as she feared there was something improper about the request.

Mrs. Siver said yesterday that her son, Richard, had received a letter from a friend, William Runklin, who declared he saw Siver and the Goula girl, who were married in Greenwich, Conn., last week, in Saratoga Springs last Sunday. The letter was turned over to the county authorities.

MRS. BAILEY IN CAB WRECK.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—Mrs. Ethel Huhn Bailey, who recently obtained a divorce from Joseph W. Bailey, Jr., son of former United States Senator Bailey of Texas, was severely injured here today when a taxicab in which she was riding was wrecked by a trolley car. Her skull was fractured and she suffered concussion of the brain. She was also badly cut on the arms by shattered glass.
